

Figure 1: Schedule of stress treatments for one sibling population of O. lurida; Outline colors represent the degree of change in methylation rate, as compared to pre-treatment F1 group. Fill colors represent the degree of decreased fitness (larval production and survivorship) in response to stressors. Hypothesis: negative response to stressors will be mitigated by changes in methylation pattern.